

Glyn Dwfn Chronicle

Being the recordings and musings on Baronial business

Words from the Coronets

We are so excited to announce our heirs for Baron and Baronin, Master Feradach mac Tralin mec Domongairt and the Honorable Robbin Bowrain.

The decision went through the proper polling procedure and the appointment has been announced by King Nicolai and Queen Ana of An Tir.

Baron Piaras and Baroness Milisandia also remind their populace to take care of ourselves during the busy event season. This is an exciting but daunting time, so find the things you love and stick to them. They invite us to reach out to them for support as needed.

Alpine Festival of the Arts

Glyn Dwfn hosted the 2025 Summits Alpine Festival of the Arts event, with strong turn out despite our wintery weather. All three bardic competitors hailed from Glyn Dwfn, with the Honorable Colette la Trouvere prevailing as the new Bardic Champion of the Summits, with selected works Je Vivroie Liement, Persephone's Gift, and self-written Héloïse. Iurii Victorev Belogorski and Erin of Glyn Dwfn also gave strong and emotional performances.

The first Youth Bard Championship went to Kase Hoie of Briaroak, who performed a passionate rendition of The Gate Shall Not Fall by Feredach Mac Tralin.

The Arts and Sciences competition attracted competitors from across the Summits bringing their deeply-researched works. Projects included ochre pigments from An Tir soils, Turkish shadow puppetry, metal brocade in woven bands, and Landsknecht armor and hats.

Margaret ingen Domnail from the shire of Briaroak was selected as the new Summits A&S champion for her detailed research and vibrant presentations on the music and life of Hildegard von Bingen

Tain Bo X — May 9th - 11th

Just around the corner is an all-out year of our favorite spring event, the Glyn Dwfn cattle raid! This year's event at Willowdale Ranch will be the biggest, bestest, most cattle-full yet, with a greatest hits track of some of the most popular activities, classes, and tournaments that everybody knows and loves, plus some exciting new things too. This event features the baronial championships for archery, cut and thrust, and armored combat, as well as the overall event competition for the ultimate prize — the permanent possession of the coveted Tain Bo Banner. Come to compete, support, revel, and win!

As we all know, making an event like this happen takes a village, or in our case a barony. Please join us for the pre-event work party May 4th at Willowdale Ranch, and to help set up the event spaces on May 8th. Contact Event Steward Baron Piaras with any questions.

Youth Combat

Glyn Dwfn is supporting its youngest members as they explore the ways of chivalry and violence. Youth combat participants have been joining the regularly scheduled fighter practice once a month at our indoor practice site, which will increase to at least twice a month when we switch to outdoor summer practice. Marshall Thalia Honorée and Chatelain Fel are planning a supplemental youth practice on Tues May 6th.

Revamping Gold Key

Gold Key Deputy Gwen has been hard at work sorting, cleaning, and updating our Gold Key inventory. They organized a successful work party last month and will be adding labels to the repaired items as well as considering what additions are most needed

Samhain 2025 is open for bids!

Officer updates and needs

Seneschal Erin of Glyn Dwfn's term ends this year at Tain Bo, and is renewing for an additional year to help with the baronial transfer. She is seeking deputies interested in taking over next year.

Exchequer update: Current balance is $10,335

Currently open positions: Web Minister, Social Media, Archery. We especially need a web minister to manage our website and calendar!

Deputies wanted: Chronicler, Exchequer, Youth Coordinator

Her Excellency Milisandia filia Willelmi Filii Roberti and His Excellency Ivan Shieldbane engage in honorable combat at the Summits Coronet competition, inspiring their populace to feats of valor
